ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This study would not have been possible without the assistance of colleagues both in South Africa and abroad who responded to requests for information regarding the policies and practices of information services management in their organisations.

The author thanks the information professionals and managing directors of those organisations who shared sensitive data in order to test a means of comparing the cost of maintaining an information service in South African legal entities:

Bowman Gilfillan Incorporated.
De Vries Incorporated
Edward Nathan & Friedland
Fairbridge Arderne & Lawton Incorporated
Jowell Glyn Marais Incorporated
Sonnenberg Hoffmann & Galombik Incorporated
Werksmans

The author also thanks colleagues and friends who commented on various aspects of the study and this report, particularly Mark Dyke for suggestions regarding business accountability and Susan Garratt for technical assistance. She records her gratitude to her most thoughtful critic, Neil Garratt.

The author acknowledges financial assistance from the Rand Afrikaans University. She also acknowledges moral support and generous use of computer facilities from the directors of Fairbridge Arderne & Lawton Incorporated.

She thanks Professor Adeline du Toit for encouragement and for suggestions with regard to the structure of this report.
